NEW WAYS TO NAVIGATE

New water wayfinding signage has been installed around Lake Cumberland's shores, improving safety and navigation for boaters and visitors. Over 75 new signs along the lake's 101 miles identify key coves, marinas, and access points. In addition to making it easier for boaters to navigate, they enhance response times when there is an emergency on the water. The signs make it much more likely that boaters, who may be out exploring unfamiliar areas of the lake, can give 911 operators more-exact location information to pass along to emergency responders. The new sign system was ARPA-funded and created as a joint project of the five counties surrounding Lake Cumberland. Visitors can now more easily explore the lake while staying oriented and informed throughout their trip.
